TITLE/SIGNIFICANCE:

Civil Defense Bunkers

COMMENT: Two types of civil defense bunkers have been identified in the USSR. One type is a bunker/building and has been identified at a number of KGB command and control installations. It is an unusually configured multi-story bunker (Figure 1).

The second type is a subsurface rectangular bunker. It has external subsurface life support tanks and a ramp for entrances to the bunker. This type of bunker has been seen in a number of strategic installations and near residential and park areas (Figure 2).
